TREASURER KROLICKI APPOINTED TO U.S. TRADE ADVISORY PANEL

(Washington, DC) – The administration of President George W. Bush, under the jurisdiction of U.S. Trade Representative Ambassador Robert Zoellick, has appointed State Treasurer Brian K. Krolicki to serve on a U.S. Trade Representative advisory committee. The mandate of the Intergovernmental Policy Advisory Committee (IGPAC), on which Treasurer Krolicki will serve, is to provide overall policy advice on issues that have a significant relationship to the transactions of state and local governments.

“I am honored to have been asked by our President to serve in this capacity,” stated Treasurer Krolicki. “I look forward to working with Ambassador Zoellick on the development and implementation of U.S. trade policy that can benefit our states and communities.”

Treasurer Krolicki is in Washington, DC today for his first meeting of the IGPAC group. The agenda includes discussions pertaining to the World Trade Organization, investment issues and government procurement in Free Trade Agreements. IGPAC is comprised of high-ranking officials from city and state government, including governors, state senators and representatives and mayors.

“Along with my tenure as president of the National Association of State Treasurers, I am proud to be able to bring a unique Nevada perspective to the national stage,” said Treasurer Krolicki.
